At 12:15 on Friday, February 28th, approximately 54 students and four adult supervisors began a 30 hour famine. For 30 hours these "famine fighters" went without food to support World Vision. The long, hard 30 hours was filled with activities and lots of loud music. Famine fighters tried to keep their minds off their stomachs by participating in sports, dancing, playing boardgames, watching movies, joining in on the limbo contest, and more. Some even tried to sleep.

World Vision is a non-profit organization that raises money to provide immediate food aid and establish community development projects in more than 90 countries around the world.

The community was extremely generous in their donations which resulted in $3,835.70 being forwarded to World Vision from F.G. Miller famine efforts. At 6:15 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 29, exactly 30 hours after it began, participants concluded the famine by eating the supper that was provided by local merchants.

The participants should be commended for their unselfishness and should be extremely proud of themselves for making a difference in the lives of many needy people. Way to go!

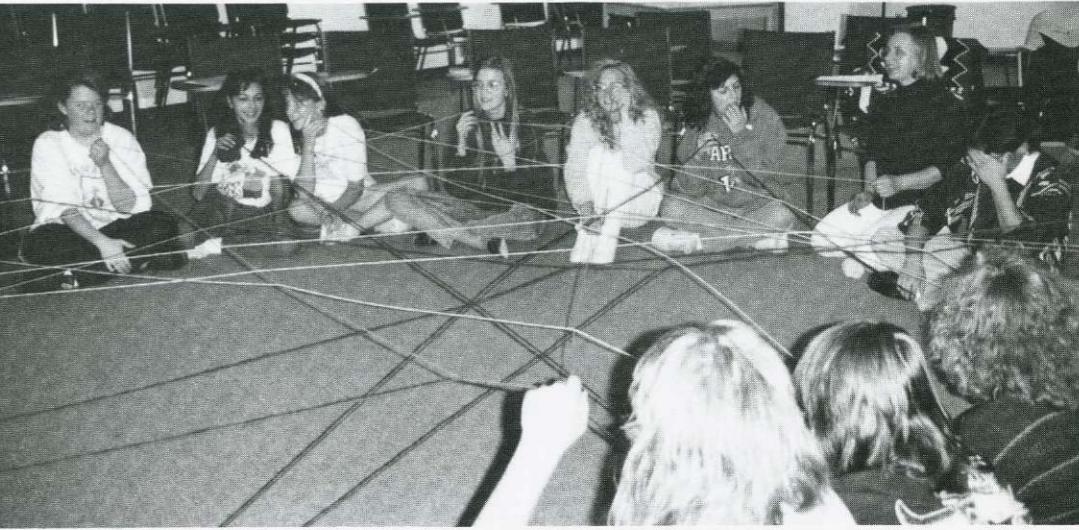

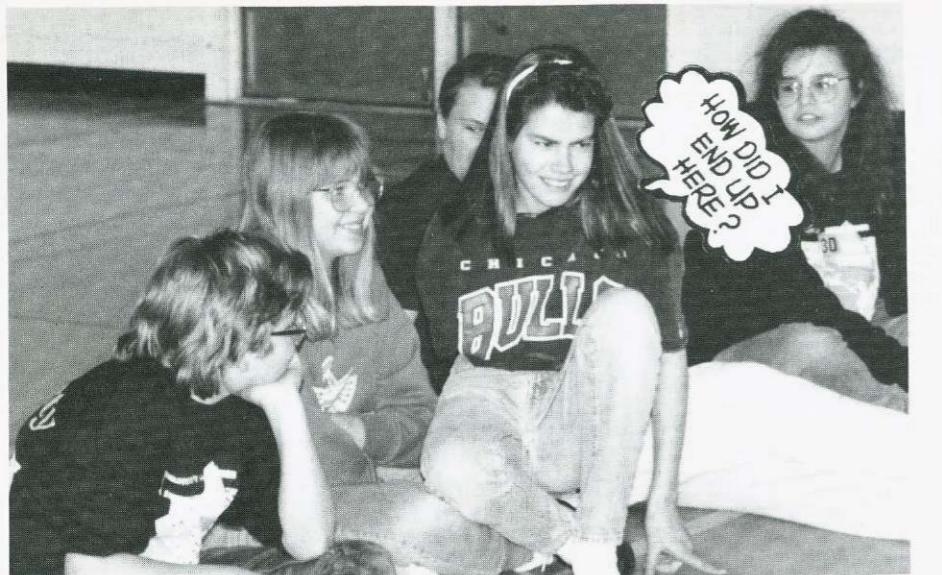

Special thanks to the Peer Support team for helping to organize the famine. We plan to make the World Vision 30 Hour Famine an annual event that will continue to grow and become even more successful each year. See you at the 1993 Famine, everybody!

This was the first year for the peer support team at FGM and overall IT was exciting and fun. The year started with our first annual retreat at St. Edouards. There we met other peer support teams, received some training and had a lot of laughs with new friends. We attended the youth conference in Heinsburg to see a play, "Maelstrom", and attend a variety of workshops during Family Violence Month. That was an eventful trip - "we" ditched the Elks van (the roads were icy, alright?!?!)

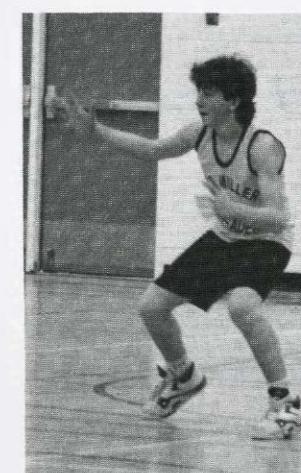

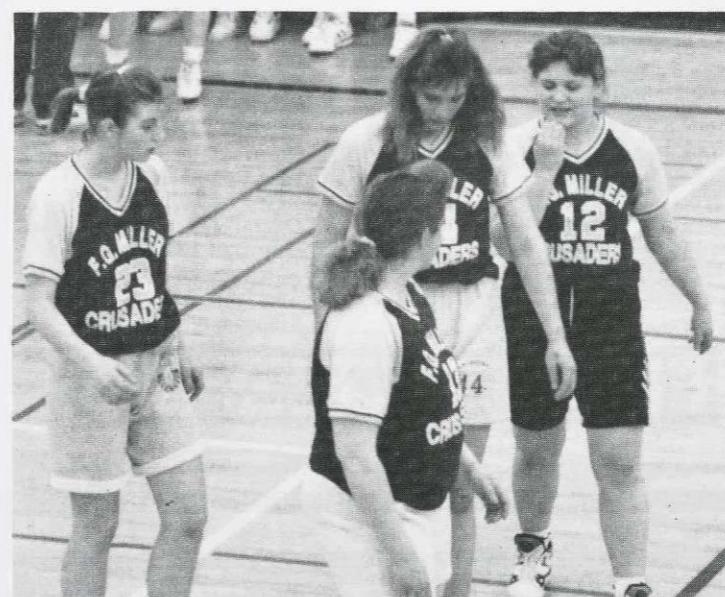

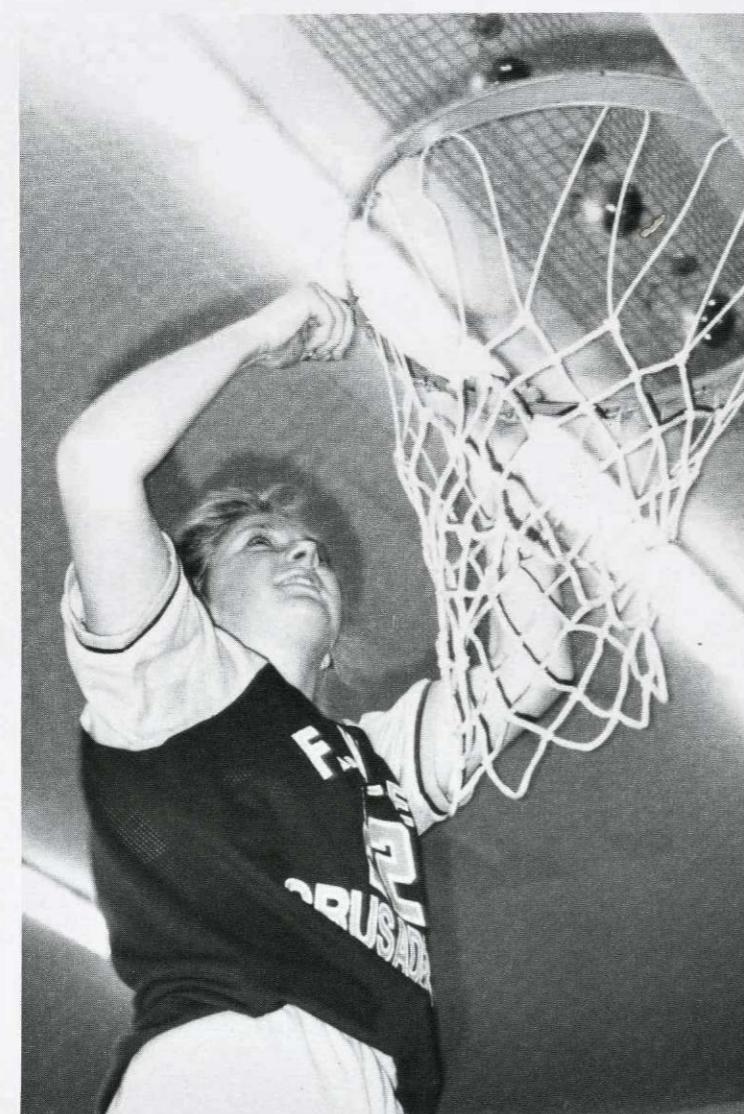

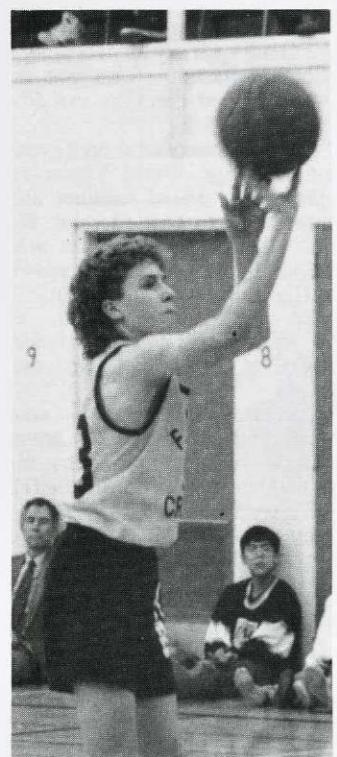

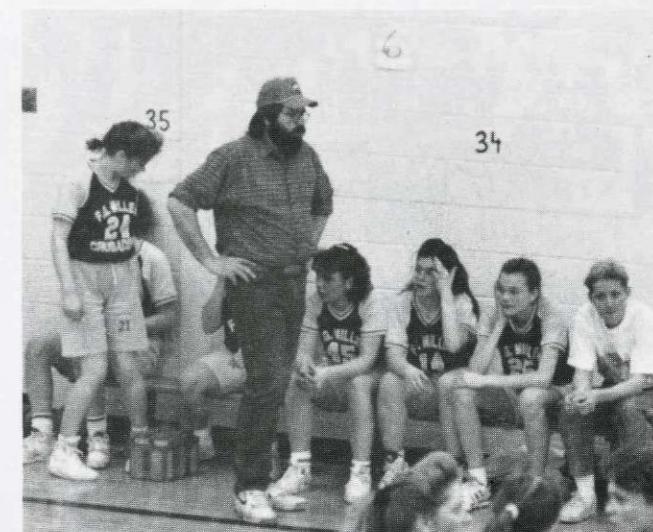

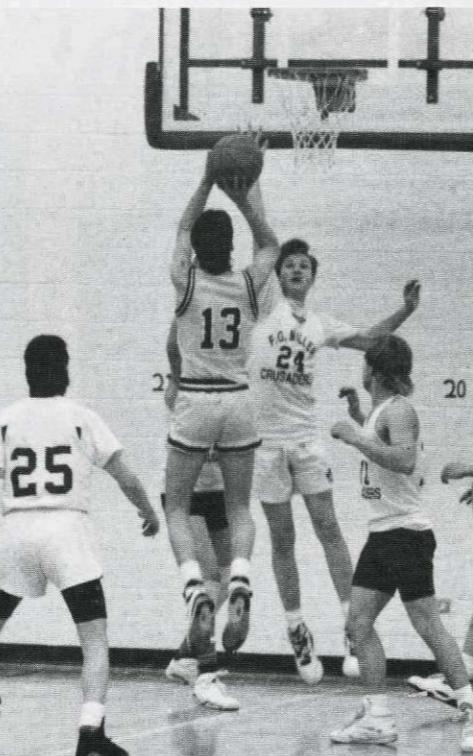

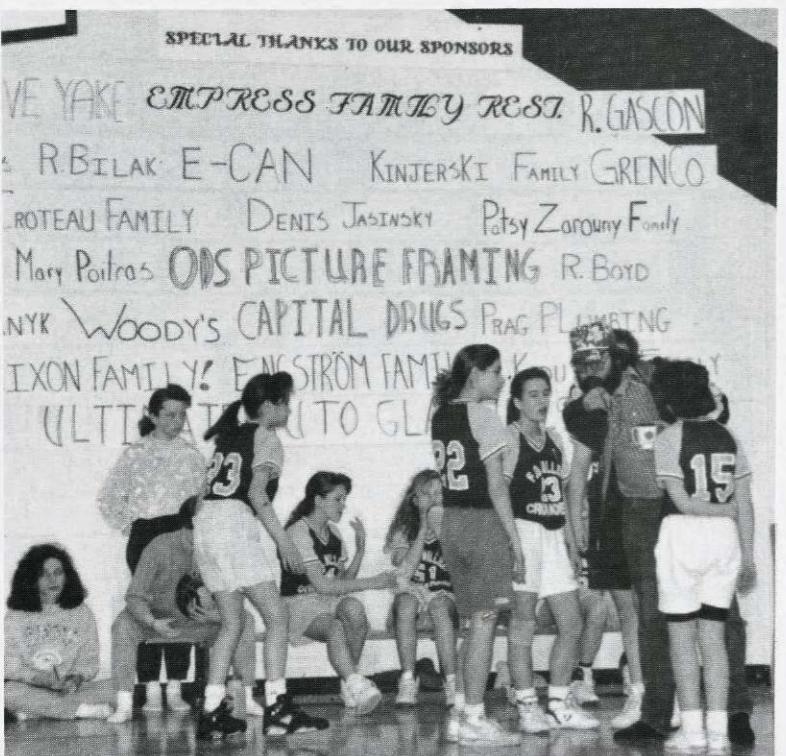

Our biggest and most successful endeavour was the organization of the World Vision 30 Hour Famine. We really pulled together and made the first famine at FGM a huge success! We raised $3835.70 for World Vision! This was $835.70 over our $3000 goal. Very impressive!

Other activities included having 2 representatives on students' council, a suggestion box, a peer support logo and t-shirt design, and selling Elks Van tickets (isn't that ironic!).

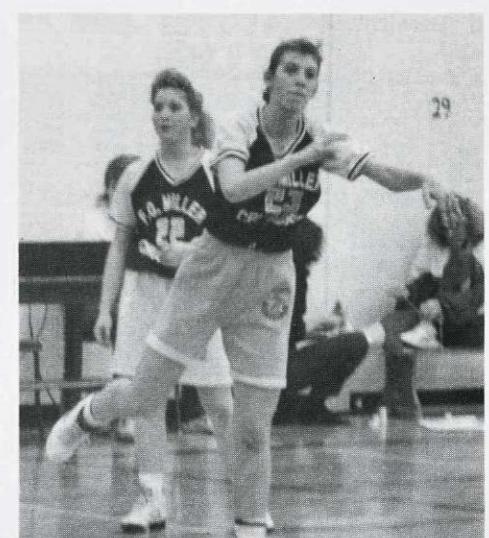

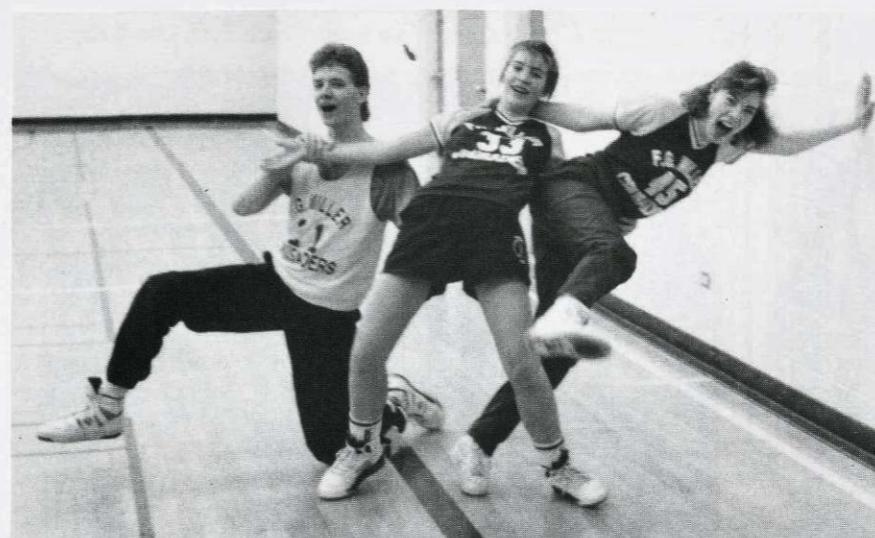

Special thanks to Angie Nelson who volunteered her time and support to the group throughout the year. And a super extra big thanks to the girls that started and finished with the group. You are a great bunch and I wish you an even more successful year in 92/93!!! (I wish I could be there).

Have a great Retreat '92! Angela Giesen

The first basketball game we played was against Kehewin. We played very well and won, 67 to 6. The boys were happy about winning their first game of the season.

The team's highest winning score was 69 points in one game. This year's point leader was number 50, Cameron Zarowny, next came number 23, Justin Conrad.

This year, our toughest competition was the Glen Avon Panthers. We won twice, but they were close games.

The rookies this year were Marcel Longmore, 11, Jeff Hodder, 15, Matthew Nixon, 32, Lee Kadutski, 12, and Tom Rae, 25. They all played very well and learned many new techniques and patterns.

IT was a definITE "Splash of Fashion" that hIT F.G. Miller School in April of 92. The grade 10 Clothing and Textiles class, under the direction of Mrs. Potts, put together an excITing and entertaining evening. Casual wear, summer wear, sports wear, jeans, dressy clothes and evening clothes from local businesses were modelled by the students, including the guys!

IT was a unique show that included great music, fun ideas, interesting choreography and no commentary. A backdrop wITH a tropical theme set the tone for our imaginary island paradise. A lot of hard work went into planning the show but IT was well worth the effort. Let's make IT an annual event!

This year's yearbook production has been far from boring. Not only was there the excitement and joy of putting together the 30th Anniversary Edition, but many bright new faces, surprising deadlines, and the opening of the Wapiti Concession made the DIFFICULT, STRESSFUL, and OVERWHELMING task of creating this volume bearable.

It was both an honor and a trial to be chosen as the editor for this year. Even though an anniversary segment helped fill the cover and a few pages, the hardest part of every book, even this one, was deciding on a theme -- the re-occurring "IT" we finally chose. There were countless episodes of hilarious comedy as various staffers came up with their own spinoff ideas of this theme.

We were very lucky to have such a large staff this year compared to those previously. The addition of some enthusiastic grade seven students helped make my last year on the staff memorable. That and the new tradition of "Yearbook Meeting Munchies."

On behalf of the staff I'd like to thank Denise Amyotte and Angela Friesen because without them you'd be missing this important article of memorabilia. Also, to Nicole, my co-editor; you've been great! Our other staffers included: Rebekah Matthews, Krista Seward, Amber Kopeck, Christa Hammond, and Jennifer Rae. This group had a lot of dedication and next to visiting the booth, yearbook was right up there. I wish them all the best for the years to come and have faith in their abilities to provide a delightful 31st edition for the student body next year.

I hope you will treasure this yearbook as much as I will treasure the memories of putting IT all together.

S.S Class of '92

The theme chosen for the Class of 1992 was "Keep WIthin Your Heart a Place Where Dreams May Grow" and the colors were whIte, pink, and blue. In this, their last year of school together, these 32 students shared experiences including a Canada Day booth, laying sod, a trip to see "Romeo and Juliet", parties, "grad hype", a mock disaster, May 16th, and tearful goodbyes following diploma exams. So to the class, remember:

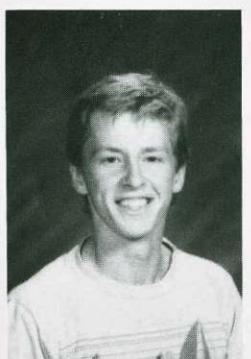

"Wherever you are IT is your own friends who make your world."

Ralph Barton Perry, The Thought and Character of William James (1935), vol. II (1899), ch. 91, conclusion.

Historians

Good evening, family and friends, fellow graduates, teachers, and special guests. Our class had been called apathetic, blood-sucking backstabbers, or angels. But, we are here to tell you most of the truth. Usually individual histories are presented, but Bonny and I felt that since this is the celebration of Class of '92, a class history is more appropriate than singling out individuals.

Over the years our class has been through a lot together. For example, in Grade 5 we played a mean game of rugby each noon hour with the bigger Grade 6's. The mean part is when everyone tackled a Grade 6 player and we broke his arm. Once he had gone to the hospital we all kept playing. The teachers tried to stop us - but we were unstoppable. Whenever the supervisor turned his or her back, we were at it again. This continued until Grade 7 when we were deprived of a playground.

During Grade 6, the traditional Whitney Lake School Camp turned into a disaster. Everything was fine until, one night, a few of the boys crossed over into no man's land: the girls' cabins. They were sneaky, but not sneaky enough, for they were caught red-handed. Now this would be pretty normal, except for what happened later. The boy's parents were called up in the middle of the night to come pick up their sons. Understandably angered, one father took it upon himself to let his feelings be known, by delivering a crushing blow to the chops of one of the male teachers. But all in all, camp was fun.

Our class has gone on many field trips, but there's one that we'll never forget. It happened in Grade 8 when we went, by bus, to the site of the Frog Lake Massacre. We visited the Massacre Monument surrounded by a beautiful white fence. When it was time to go we had a tough time rounding up everyone, which obviously must have been frustrating to the teacher driving, because he seemed to forget ever having seen the fence. A good chunk of the fence was crushed by the rear end of the bus. It was really funny until we were told we had to fix it.

This year has been full of ups and downs; Grade 12 is always a trying time. It tests a class' ability to stick together. Many a grad class have been splintered into fighting camps. We feel that the Class of '92 has pulled through intact, with only a few minor scars to show for it.

We had some incidents which proved stressful. At the beginning of the year a couch was donated to the grad lounge. We stood firmly divided: some wanted the couch, but others didn't because of its horrible stench. The matter was put to rest when some of the boys decided to barbecue it.

Also, communication within the class was hampered by the fact that it was nearly impossible to get the whole class together at once. Some students hung out at the grad lounge: a unique, interesting, and sometimes violent boot room. Those that stuck to the library were said to have lived there and it was truly an event when one of them visited the lounge. Whenever someone managed to bring together these two groups and all other wandering souls, we sat around with blank looks on our faces saying nothing.

Another major stumbling block for our class was preparing this celebration of ourselves. Our enthusiasm seemed to take a very long time to kick in. Perhaps that is why, just a week ago, everything was still in disorder, nothing seemed to be working right and several thousand flowers still had to be made. Yet, as you can see, we managed to bring this together just in time.

By now you're probably wondering what kept us together as a class. It's not that we all like each other or anything mushy like that. It's these shared memories. This common history is what provides the tenuous bond between us and makes us a class. It's a continuous process and we're adding to it all the time. Just last week we were all blown up and rushed to the hospital for sandwiches and juice. That experience is now part of us. It's going on even now. This night will help us define us as a class. All these memories, good and bad, are the Class of '92.

Class of '92 Historians

Class of '92 Valedictorians

Good evening family, friends, and fellow classmates. We, the Class of '92, would like to welcome you as you join us in celebrating this momentous occasion. These ceremonies pay tribute to twelve years of education and force us to realize that this last year will soon be over. As we enter into a new stage of our lives, we leave behind a schedule with which we have become comfortable. We shall miss the regular routine of coming to school each day and seeing the friends we've made over the past twelve years. Today we realize that soon it will be time to say good-bye to these familiar surroundings, our classmates, and our teachers.

This is not only a time for good-byes, but also a time for thank-yous. Tolerant teachers and caring parents should be given credit for guiding us through our high school years. They instilled in us the importance of education and encouraged us to have confidence in our own abilities. Our future decisions will be affected by the beliefs and ideals given to us by our parents and teachers. On behalf of the Class of '92, we would like to thank them for their continuing support which has contributed to bringing us to this point in our lives.

Progression through life is brought about by transition as we adjust to reach our goals. These goals are set by the dreams and ideals which we create in preparation for the years to come. For today we have chosen the theme, "Keep within your heart a place where dreams may grow". By keeping our dreams alive we give ourselves goals to work towards.

We have already been confronted with life's first major decision. Applications to universities and technical institutes and summer job resumes have been mailed away. The choice of furthering our education or gaining work experience is based on the dreams we have had during our school years. With the education we have already been fortunate enough to receive, we can be confident that we will have the chance and equal opportunity to strive for our goals in a world where competition is stressed.

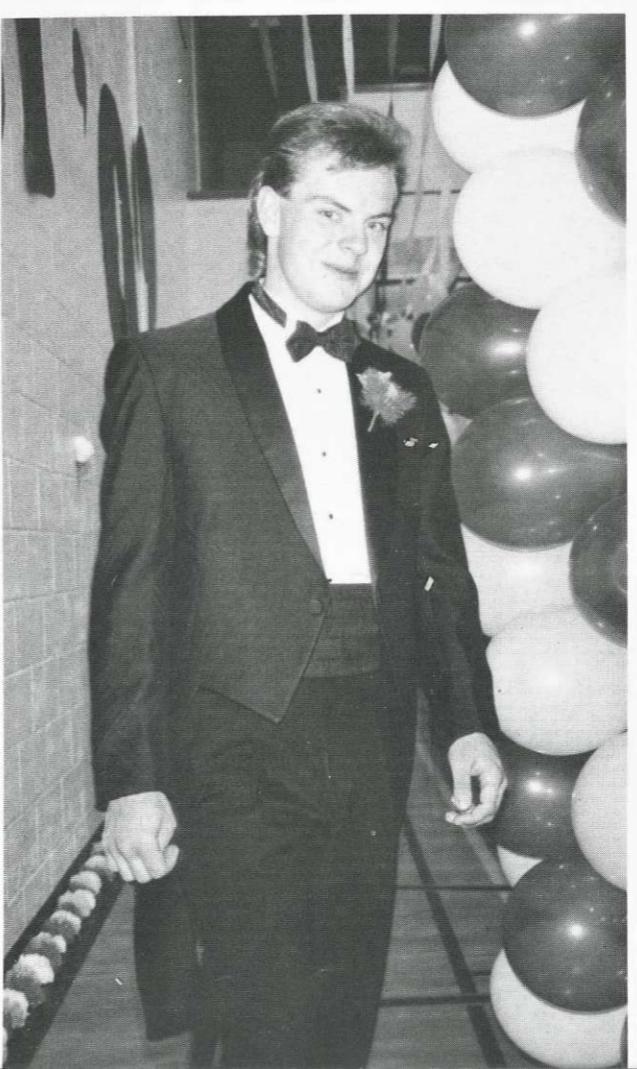

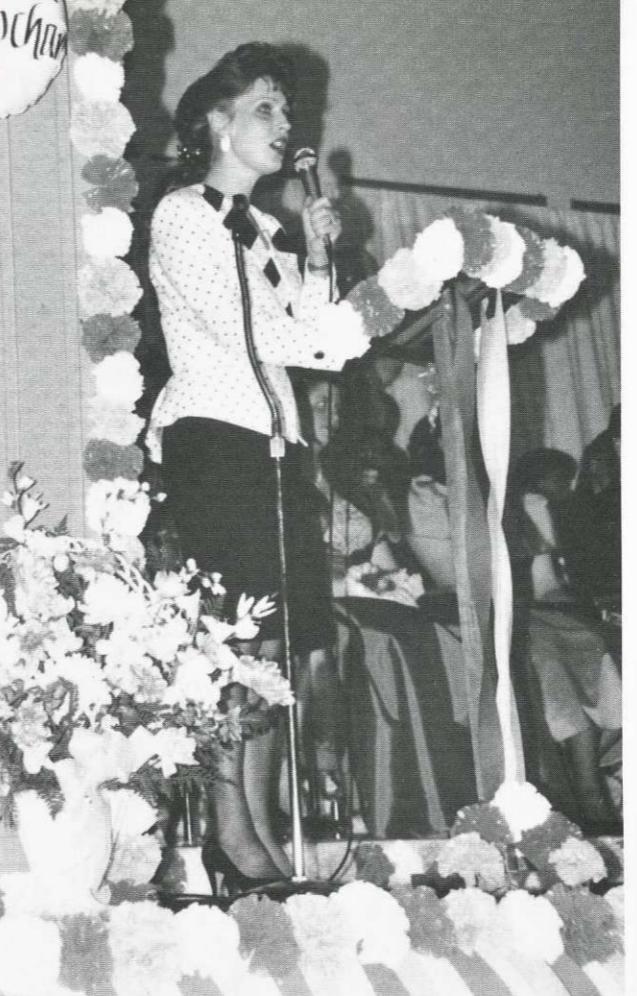

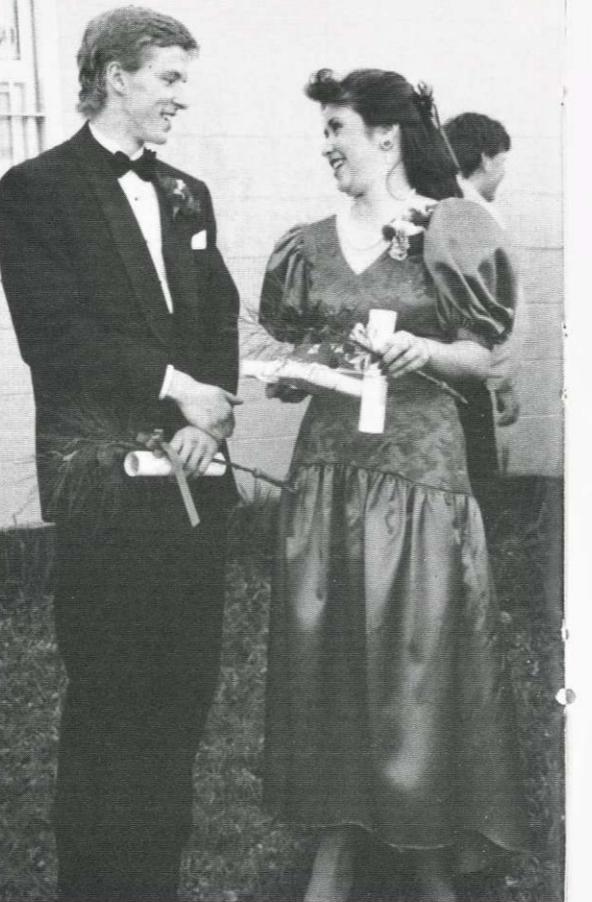

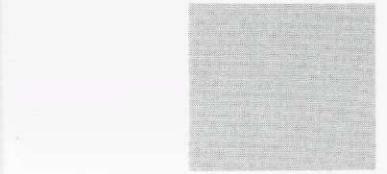

Motivation to attain the goals we set is provided by the desire to enjoy the benefits and the satisfaction of achievement. Unfortunately, there is the possibility of an obstacle being placed between you and your goal, forcing you to re-evaluate your position and perhaps change your dreams. This change does not necessarily mean an end to the dream, but may only require a new approach. We must remember never to stop creating new dreams for they give us something to look forward to and strive towards.

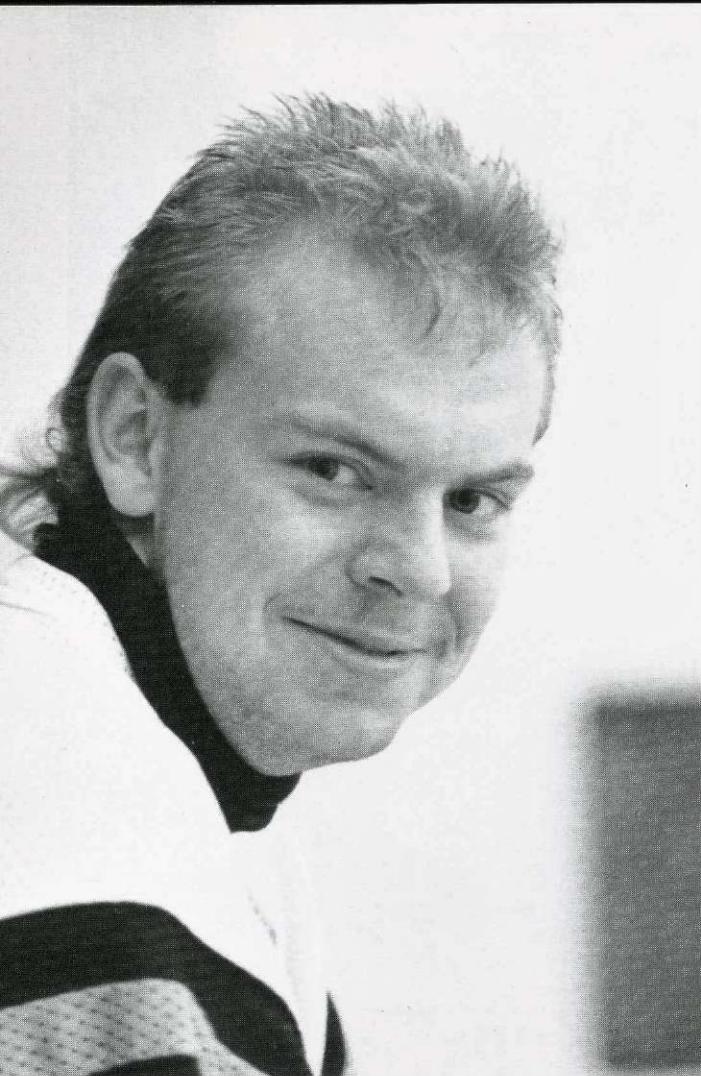

To the class we would like to offer a few words of advice. If you have a dream, you can't just sit back and wait for it to come true. Achieving our goals takes a lot of time, effort, and determination. So expect some difficulties along the way, but in the end, the realization of a dream is worth it.

Don't set yourself up only to be let down by a dream that was impossible to reach. Being flexible and realistic allows you to change and adjust to the problems that you encounter and makes you aware of what you are capable of achieving. Know where you want to be and realize that there are many steps to climb. Reach for the stars but do 't be disappointed with the moon.

Today as we look forward to our progression into society, we plan our lives based on the hopes and dreams of our ideal future. However, as important as our dreams are, we must not become so wrapped up in them that we forget to enjoy today. We must balance our lives so that we make the most of each moment while continuing to strive towards the achievement of our goals. During these past twelve years we have been learning and we will continue to learn, to grow as people, and above all, to dream.

Handball '92 Alberta Provincials were held on April 25 and 26 at Jasper Place High School in Edmonton. The women's teams had two pools, consisting of a total of nine teams.

Elk Point Crusaders played their first game against Fort McMurray. With a win of 15 to 9, the team then went on to play the Percy Page Panthers and the Raiders from Red Deer. Both were close defeats, but this didn't stop the Crusaders from making it to the medal round.

Early Sunday morning they played Beaverlodge for quarter finals and won, with a score of 8-7. With a heartbreaking loss in the semi finals against Percy Page, they went to the Bronze Medal game. This game was against Jasper Place. It started out slow and looked bad for the Crusaders. Down by 4 points and with only 20 minutes left they needed to score 6 to win.

Coming down to the last 2 minutes of the game, the last goal was scored. Elk Point came away with a 10 to 9 victory.

Congratulations to the Crusaders who showed the city teams that a small town can also be competitive.

Time passes so quickly that we couldn't capture on film all the sports participated in here at F. G. Miller High. This page is in acknowledgement of those lower profile sports that are the mainstay of our athletic department and bring us as much, if not more recognition, to our school as those more publicized.

So congratulations to all those who participated in these sports and brought home the honor they deserve!

After a week of preparation, F.G. Miller's senior high golfers were all geared up for the zone play-offs in Lac La Biche. For the first time we entered two female golfers in the tournament. A few players played a practice round the previous Saturday, on a tough narrow course. September 13th, the day of the play-offs, brought cold, rainy, windy weather. As this was the first year for all the golfers, next year promises to be better.

SEASON HIGHLIGHTS:

Noonhour and after school practices culminated in a rather successful and exciting County Cup Cross Country meet in Vilna on Wednesday, September 25th. The over 6 km long, winding, hilly, but challenging and scenic trail posed little problem for our athletes. Crystal came in 9th, Charlene 3rd, bemie 8th (in a class higher than his qualifications) and Aaron, 5th in their respective categories. Our students did an excellent job in representing F.G. Miller.
